

August 28, 2011

Dear Networkinglinks Community,

Even though a tropical storm warning remains in effect for NYC, all in all we have fared well and for the most part seem to be in good shape.

As service in and around New York slowly restores, we wanted to share some "After the Storm Tips" regarding your computer equipment to help you get back on track.

After a power outage or storm, one of the first things to do is plug all your computer equipment back. Once that is done, open your browser and test your Internet Connection, check your network connectivity and your printer(s) etc. You want to take note of what is working and what is not.

If you are unable to connect to your Internet or your computer hardware does not seem to be working properly, please don't hesitate in reaching out to us; we will work to get you back online as quickly as possible.

Please continue to take all precautions and safety while the storm warning remains in effect.

Thank you for your trust and business. We look forward to serving you in the future.

Best Regards,

NWL Team
(641) 715-3900 enter ext 360661#

<http://www.networkinglinks.net>